DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 7-9 are objected to because of the following informalities: Use of the term "from less than" to indicate a range is vague because it is unclear where the upper/lower bound of the range lies. "From less than 2 %" does not mean "up to 2 %." Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over U.S. Patent No. 6,180,736 to Muhle et al.

Muhle et al. teaches a gas phase polymerization process comprising contacting ethylene and one or more comonomers with an activator and an unbridged, group 4 metallocene comprising an unsubstituted tetrahydroindenyl and an unsubstituted cyclopentadienyl ligand (claims 1 and 6). The complexes (cyclopentadienyl)(tetrahydroindenyl)zirconium dimethyl/dihalides and the corresponding titanium and hafnium analogues are exemplary (see col. 7, lines 32-35 and col. 8, lines 10-16 and 55-61). The resulting polymers prepared from the claimed process have a MIR ( $I_{21}/I_2$ ) of less than 35 (claim 7), and a density of 0.865-0.925 g/cm<sup>3</sup>, which, incidentally, may be adjusted simply by varying the comonomer ratio (claim 9). Use of the claimed catalysts in the preparation of ethylene-hexene copolymers is well within the teachings of the prior art, and the properties of the resulting ethylene-hexene copolymers are displayed in Table 1. Use of supported catalysts is discussed at length in col 14, lines 7-55, and the examples section describes a representative, supported catalyst system.

Although the reference does not study the change in density and melt index as a function of monomer/comonomer ratio, a reasonable basis exists to believe that the resulting polymers prepared by the catalysts of the prior art will exhibit the same properties, especially in light of the fact that the catalyst and process described in Muhle et al. are essentially the same as that recited in the present claims. Since the PTO can not conduct experiments, the burden of proof is shifted to the Applicants to establish an unobviousness difference. In re Fitzgerald, 619 F.2d. 67, 205 USPQ 594 (CCPA 1980). See MPEP § 2112-2112.02.
